TRAVETTE
ENGINEERED
HARDWOOD
FLOORING

3 Layer Construction

Unmatched stability & reliability!

The top layer is a thick "dry sawn" lumber face available in an array of exotic & temperate species. The supporting layers guarantee superior dimensional stability and shape retention. Like the top layers, these are made of solid hardwood.

Sawn Wear Layer

The structural integrity of real sawn lumber!

Travette flooring "sawn" just the same as solid 3/4" lumber, so it not only looks the same it is the same! Sliced and/or rotary peeled wood are used on most engineered flooring. The process weakens the wood making it prone to "checking" and splitting.

- Solid-Engineered: Travette floorings are "Solid-Engineered" to outlast ordinary floors including ordinary engineered or solid flooring.
- Re-sandable: Just like other solid flooring, re-sand and finish Travette flooring throughout your lifetime and beyond.
- Longer, Wider & Faster: Travette planks are longer, stronger, look better and make installation faster. A longer overall length means fewer seams and a better looking floor!
- Stains & Finish: The industry's latest stains and coatings are utilized in all Travette Engineered Hardwood Flooring products. We apply a scratch resistant and UV-cured Urethane onto the surface to add value and protection to your floor for years to come.

Installation

The flooring is not fixed to the floor but interlocked and laid on the floor. The flooring is installed on foam and plastic is laid beneath it to avoid moisture from seeping in. Wood is a living material, means a floating wood floor will move a little (expand and contract), despite the multilayer construction, depending on how the indoor climate changes during the year. Therefore, it is very important to leave a space as an expansion gap of at least 1.5 mm per meter wide of floor, minimum 8-10 mm, between floor and wall, thresholds, steps, pillars and stone floors, etc. The expansion gap is hidden below skirting or edging. This is for hassle free expansion and contraction of the floor!

Care and Maintenance

Cleaning the floor simply means that it needs to be vacuumed, dry mopped or swept. For more thorough cleaning mop the floor using a moist cloth and a few drops of mild cleaning agent. Avoid wet mopping. Never use too much water on the wood.

A LEGACY OF TRUST

Natural Wood & Veneers - Kochi

Established in 1977, Jalaram Timber Depot started with a simple mission – to preserve the quality and craft in harvesting the finest wood from around the world and to bring it to India in its most suitable form to find a place in your home or work environment.

Today we are proud to have over 40 years of expertise across not just veneers, but also wooden flooring, plywood and solid surfaces. Jalaram Timber Depot has consistently set the standard for these products in India and we're happy to say that we continue to do so every day.

Our extensive range of veneers are closely evaluated and curated from around the world, using the best of local materials as well as international woods.

Much like timber that needs the best conditions to grow, we have nurtured strong relationships and built a reputable network of timber suppliers across the globe, which gives us access to the highest quality of materials.

We also lead the market in solid surfaces – Jalaram Timber Depot was the first to introduce Dupont™ Corian® Solid Surface in India, among several other brands that we are proud to partner with.

We are the authorized distributor for the Western Region for Parador – a premium wooden flooring brand from Germany. Our plywood range is curated and certified; any brand endorsed by Jalaram Timber Depot meets the top quality standards since we go through stringent testing processes and set the quality bar for the industry.

Jalaram Timber Depot has its own veneer manufacturing unit in Kerala with over 400 varieties of veneers, which allows us to monitor and maintain a certain level of quality.

Spread over 6 acres at Vettickal, Mulanthuruthy in Ernakulam District, our state-of-the-art factory is equipped with a fully fledged slicing and peeling facility and kiln drying chambers.

The factory also houses our showroom that carries a large variety of wood, veneers and flooring products.

The Veneer Studio at Central Mumbai is designed to showcase our collection of veneers, floorings, solid surfaces, deck & cladding, kiln dried timber, live tree slabs and plywood. We're ready to welcome you.
